It was principally through his administration of affairs in Corea while acting as Governor-General over that pomession that he won his high place in the empire. Count Terauchi took charge of affairs there in 1910 and at once began to rule with a firm hand. He stationed Japanese soldiers in every village, im posing upon them the police powers which he had taken from the natives.

The Emperor of Corea he reduced to the rank of a Prince, making him-self supreme ruler. Within a few months his work of annexation was complete. He caused the expenditure of large sums of money in improving and developing the country.

It was as a military administrator rather than as a field commander that Count Terauchi won his military honors. Through his ability and genius in this direction he won promotion as Major General and later appointment as president of the Japanese Military Staff Col lege. As Minister of War in 1902 he won the confidence of the Eider States men of Japan. He became absolute master of the War Department and eventually a war councillor,

Failing health had made Mr. Ringling virtually a recluse during the last two years, and though his estate is used as the winter quarters for a large part street. tion was due to the influence of a little of the circus equipment and menagerie group of Elder Statesmen.

The Emperor, however, was on his ness during that time. He had been in the business since childhood, having learned how to perform various stunts in public when a youth. He was born at McGregor, Iowa, fifty-six years ago. Mr. Ringling joined his efforts to those of his brothers, who, though the sons of a country harness maker with few opportunities to study amusements, pos-sessed such a natural talent for show-manship that they afterward became known the country over. Besides Al'red T. there were Al. John, Otto and Charles together with Henry and A. G., who were never prominently identified with the rise of this family group. Early in life Alfred T. learned with his brothers to do everything from musical turns to equestrian acts under the leadership of Al, and though his opportunity to obtain systematic instructions on an instrument were few Alfred later became an accomplished musician. After performing as a lad for pin money in the town of Baraboo, Wis., where they were then living. Alfred went with four of his brothers on the road, appearing in barns, tents and vacant rooms and givins a "concert" as part of the "Ringling Brothers Comedy Concert Company." After the organization changed to a contract the research and the contract of the contract cert Company. After the organization changed to a one ring wagon show, then to a railroad show in 1888, and subsequently into a powerful competitor with the large circuses of the country. Alfred, who had been doing everything connected with the business, decided with the business, decided with his brothers to specialize, as they found they could trust one another in special jobs at which hired agents had roved dishonest. Alfred took over the management of the sideshows in both the Itingline Brothers' circus and the Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' Show, acquired by them in 1906, and also handled the publicity, which brought him into touch with a majority of the newspaper men in the

The Federal Trade Commission recently cited fifteen different manufacturers of underwear for alleged false labeling-deceiving purchasers into believing they were buying all-wool instead of partwool underwear.

A fancy name on a label may be only a selling charm to catch the unwary. Here, if an undergarment is 60% wool and 40% cotton we say so! Know your dealer!

As for suits and over-

There's not a fabric we use that isn't first tested chemically to make sure it's all-wool.

L. B. Card ledger -the main-spring of accounting-

Watch manufacturers demand accuracy. They demand it of the watches they make: - they demand it of their bookkeeping system.

ledger is used by leading watch manufacturers. It means that it has met the most rigorous tests and made good. Some installations are comparatively recent; others are of years standing. In every case the verdict is the same-"The L. B. Card ledger is the best system of accounting

It means something, therefore, to say that the L. B. Card we have ever had. It has reduced mistakes and worry and helped the work of the whole office!" The Library Bureau Card ledger lifts every accounting department to new heights of speed and accuracy. It does this first of all because it is fundamentally correct in principle and in method. Visit any one of our salesrooms and let us show you the advantages of the L. B. Card ledger for machine posting, and a record of what it has done not only for watch manufacturers, but for banks and commercial houses the country
